

Le Cellier des Varennes is a small area in Saint Julien in Beaujolais and Bourgogne regions in France.

Mr Rebolle the landowner and Mr Franck Duvernay an authentic french winegrower, make each year a perfect traditional and authentic red wine AOC.

These wines are bottled each year on our property.

There's quite an art in our production techniques : traditional, authentic and original like the taste of our wines.

We don't use chemical products in the yard or on the grapes, and it takes 3 weeks to obtain the right alcoholic fermentation etc. (the grapes ferment 3 weeks to become alcohol etc.)

We deliver official french documents to certify our wines to our customers.

We have two kinds of red wines : Beaujolais AOC and Bourgogne Grand Ordinaire AOC.
Primeur to strong and tannin wine.

"Beaujolais Primeur AOC" is a red light wine for lunch, for happy hours and for white meat and light food (not too spicy). A very pleasant wine for french people. It is slightly fruity. It tastes the ecosystem. You can keep it 1 year.

"Beaujolais de Garde AOC" is stronger. You can keep it 8 years.

"Beaujolais Village AOC" is a very high quality wine. Perfect for game, spicy food, red meat. etc. The flavour is very subtle and strong. It has more body, is more tannin. You can keep it 10 years.

"Bourgogne Grand Ordinaire AOC" from old vines is a very high quality wine, (the vineyard is old). For game, spicy food, red meat. etc. The flavour is very subtle and strong. It's a tannin wine. You can keep it 10 years.

Bourgogne Grand Ordinaire AOC, the vineyards are younger but the taste is strong and subtle.

The name of the grapes is "Gamay", a black grape with white juice.

All of these wines are AOC and the production is limited according to the french regulation.

So, you can have famous and rare french wines. Rare because the production is limited (and it will be written on the label).
